Handling Disputes Among Brethren

Ron Drumm

Disagreements are going to happen among brethren in the church. God's Word reveals a dispute between the apostle Paul and Barnabas (Acts 15:39). In this Biblical situation it was the decision of the brothers to work separately. But in most cases it is not a good solution to go our separate ways, especially when we are located in one community. It is far better to come to a solution and then to continue working together in the same church family.

The following principles are presented by the apostle Paul to the Christians at Corinth. When there is a grievance against your brother take it to your fellow saints and not before the unrighteous (1 Cor. 6:1). Remember that the saints (Christians) will judge the world and angels (vss. 2,3). Find a wise saint to help you in this matter rather than asking an unbeliever to settle your problem (vss. 4-6). Be willing to suffer wrong or be defrauded rather than taking the matter before unbelievers (vs. 7).

Sadly, Paul concludes that "you yourselves wrong and defraud even your own brothers!" (vs. 8). This type of treatment of your fellow brother or sister ought not to be, so Paul asks a question of which all saved believers should know the answer: "Do you not know that the unrighteous will not inherit the kingdom of God?" (vs. 9). A clear answer is presented with a strong reminder of our own personal past dealing with personal sin. "Do not be deceived: neither the sexually immoral, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor men who practice homosexuality, nor thieves, nor the greedy, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor swindlers will inherit the kingdom of God" (vss. 9,10). "And such were some of you" (vs. 11a).
